Many Famous People Lived Here

This one actually got some of the old boys betting money. It's a fact. Two old residents got in a hot argument over where the house used to be and where it is today and they unlimbered the wallets and laid the cash on the line. If they unlimbered the wallets and laid the cash on the line, if this house ever stood in all the places that we have been told that it stood, it would have been moved so many times that there would be nothing left today but toothpicks. When it was originally built we do not know but we do know that as long as 60 years ago it was standing on the site of what is now the Culp block, occupied by Stedman's and Millyard's Drug Store. In fact the wing on the right is the rear portion of the drug store. The late E. H. Culp owned the property when construction work was started on the Post Office in 1914, and when that edifice was completed and opened he then moved the main portion of the house to what is now 32 Oak street and there it stands today, occupied by Wm. and Mrs. Twocock. Upon the site the new brick block was erected in 1916-17. As near as can be learned the late Major Anderson, one of His Majesty's Customs Officers was about the first occupant of the house, and believe it or not the editor remembers both him and Mrs. Anderson. The late John A. Dale and family lived here in the very late 90's and early 1900's during his term as Principal of the Public School.

CANADA'S FAMOUS NATURALIST

On Friday, November 13th, the Grimsby Lions Club presents Stuart L. Thompson, Toronto, at the Grimsby High School Auditorium. He will give two of his outstanding nature talks—Afternoon: "Canadian Bird Neighbours." Evening: "With A Canadian Naturalist Outdoors." His talks will be illustrated with some 50 of his own coloured slides.

Stuart L. Thompson is "A Canadian business man blessed by nature with love of a good hobby." Eminent as a naturalist, artist and skilled imitator of bird songs, Mr. Thompson knows how to share his enthusiasm and enjoyment with others.

He brings us a story of our Canadian woods, in which he has patiently watched and studied birds and beasts, insects, trees and flowers. While he relates his entertaining experiences you will see and hear many of our native birds, portrayed with the skill and intimate knowledge of and all-round woodman.

Stuart L. Thompson, a full-time business man, heads for the outdoors at every opportunity. He has given hundreds of addresses throughout Ontario and Montreal. Has written many articles for nature magazines, etc.; has taught at summer camps and Toronto University Extension Courses; has broadcast and has just completed a series for the CBC to be released in British early next year.

Grimsby is most fortunate in having an address by this outstanding naturalist. Advance tickets are available from any Lion and Bourne's Men's Wear. Remember the date—Friday, November 15th at 2:30 p.m. and 5:15 p.m.

Citizens Should Attend Meeting

Come Out And Express Your Views On The Reorganization Of The Chamber Of Commerce.

On the evening of Friday, November 22nd, there will be held in Trinity Hall, Depot Street, Grimsby, an organization meeting by which it is hoped that the dormant Grimsby Chamber of Commerce will again be brought to life.

As matters stand now, Grimsby is in vital need of a Chamber of Commerce, but it must be placed upon a footing that will do the greatest good for the whole community. Within its membership, there must be listed manufacturers and merchants, professional men of above all fruit growers, planters, etc., for after all it is not business industry and its allied industries that form the backbone of Grimsby.

We must have an organization of men who are determined to go forth and publicize Grimsby; to bring new industry to Grimsby; to further community spirit all Grimsby; to tackle problems of kinds and description for the betterment of the best interests of Grimsby and the Great Grimsby Fruit Belt.

The Chamber must not be allowed to decline after a few months of operation into a clique of organization. It must be formed with broad ideas and ideals and unless that is the manner in which it is formed and every branch of our community represented then there is no use trying to go forward with the idea.

For School Kids

Will Get 16 Clear Days This Yuletide—Schools Close December 20th, Open January 6th.

Teachers and students may or may not be aware of it, but this year Christmas holidays will last for the longest possible time, 16 clear days, from Friday, December 20 to Monday, January 6.

Students have not had such a long Christmas holiday since 1940. Last year schools closed December 21 and reopened January 3. In 1944 they closed a day later and reopened the same date.

Reason for the long holiday this year lies in the day on which certain dates fall. Provincial regulations entitle schools to close only from December 22 to January 3, unless such date falls on Friday, Saturday or Sunday.

This year December 22 falls on Sunday so school is dismissed the preceding Friday, January 3, 1947 falls on Friday, so that school reopening is delayed until the following Monday.

Injured In Wreck
Of Stolen Car

Andrew Witruk of Toronto, Found Lying In Traffic Lane Of Queen Elizabeth Highway.

Found lying in the centre of the eastbound lane of the Queen Elizabeth Way several feet beyond a wrecked automobile which had rolled over three times near Grimsby Beach on Saturday night, Andrew Witruk, 23, of Richmond Street West, Toronto, was removed by ambulance to Hamilton General Hospital where it was reported he had sustained a fractured skull and other serious injuries. His condition is said to be "just fair."

The wrecked car, a 1946 model, is said by police to have been stolen from a parking lot beside the Royal York Hotel, Toronto. It is owned, according to Toronto police, by the Scotch Anthracite Coal Co., of that city, and had been left in the parking lot by J. P. Sullivan, manager, who was unaware of the car being gone until awakened during Saturday night by officers investigating at request of Provincial Constable E. O. Hope, of Grimsby.

The injured man was attended at the scene by Dr. A. F. McIntyre, Grimsby. Valuable assistance was given by Clifford Thompson, St. Catharines R.C.A.F. veteran with first aid training, who arrived at the scene just after the accident happened.

Eclipse Of Sun

If it is a clear day, Grimsby will fade into partial darkness at noon hour on Nov. 23, when a 50 per cent eclipse of the sun is scheduled. The eclipse will begin at 10:42 a.m. (EST) and will last until 1:45 p.m., and at its maximum at 12:13, the moon will cover about half the sun's surface. Although interesting to laymen, officials at the David Dunlap Observatory state the eclipse will have little scientific value.

The eclipse will be viewed across Canada and in Edmonton will begin at 8:25 a.m. and last until 10:28 a.m. It will begin at the top rim of the sun and work across to the left edge, where it will disappear.

Citizens Are Not Obeying The Act As Regards Permits—Contractors Erring Too—Lake Level Has Dropped 35 Inches—Permission Granted To Construct Sewage Disposal Plant In Sections.

Many matters confronted Town Council in regular session last night and there was plenty of discussion on all points. The local building bylaw and the disrespect paid to it by citizens in not taking out permits before commencing the erection of a building was again to the forefront. From the attitude of the council there is not much doubt but what prosecutions will follow the flouting of the law in the future.

The matter of the building inspector keeping a closer check on the erection of new buildings, alterations, etc., and the checking of buildings at different points during the course of erection to see that the specifications were being conformed to again brought up the subject of the plumbing inspector, said inspection being practically nil at the present time.

Councillor Bonham bluntly stated that neither this town nor any other town could have all this inspection work properly looked after with four or five different men doing the work for very little pay. He stated "you cannot run a big town organization on a small town set-up."

John Cimba presented plans for the new building he contemplates (Continued on page 12)

Winona To Have An Open Air Rink

On Tuesday evening of last week the Winona Men's Club held their first dinner meeting of the winter season at the De-Nite hotel, Stony Creek, with President Keith Milliken as master of ceremonies.

Mr. C. D. Lockard, President of The International Harvester Co., Hamilton, was the guest speaker of the evening and illustrated his address with moving pictures.

The Club has many projects under consideration for the improvement and betterment of community life in the Winona area. Among them being the effort put forth with the Department of Highways to have the speed limit on No. 8 Highway at the school area reduced to 30 miles an hour.

The Club will sponsor the building and operation of an open air rink on Station Road and will also have a four team minor hockey league as well as a team in the O.R.H.A. Tom Collins is the man in charge of sporting activities.

Here Is A Real Old Timer

When this picture was taken the editor was not even alive so you can see that it was more than the day before yesterday. At that time the business of the Village centred around this building and it does so today, to a more or less extent. The framework of the building is still existent. One of the greatest boosters and developers of Grimsby and the Fruit Belt served his apprenticeship in this building. He is still with us. There are several people in the district who will make it enticing. To the person who first tells us about this building and some of its history we will give a subscription for one year to The Independent. Wm. Schwab, Charles T. Farrell are barred from competition.

FACTS & FANCIES

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

OUR LOSS IS GREAT

The Fruit Belt, business circles and the fruit industry in particular, have suffered, through death, the past weekend, two terrific blows.

The loss of two such sterling businessmen, in the short space of 36 hours, in the persons of Charles Arthur Farrell of Grimsby, and Leon L. Smith of Winona, is irreparable.

Both young men were life long residents of this district. They had made their mark in the business and fruit industry world and commanded the highest respect of all with whom they came in contact. They were men of great business acumen, the highest integrity and with exceptional organizational ability which they had amply proven in the development of their respective businesses.

The loss of these two men to the district is a far greater and deeper one than most of us realize at the present time. In times of uncertainty such as we are living in, with the future none too bright, we could ill-afford to suffer this loss, and we will suffer from it for a long time to come.

MIGHT KNOW TOO MUCH

From the time we get up in the morning until we go to bed at night our way is made infinitely easier by pushing things and pulling things or, what is the equivalent, turning a dial to right or left.

By this simple means we provide ourselves with light, we regulate the temperature of our houses, we do our cooking, wash and iron our clothes, remove dust and dirt without resorting to a broom. Or, we dial a number, speak to a long-distance operator and in a remarkably short time are talking to somebody several hundred or several thousand mile away.

Few of us are very clear as to the way these miracles are performed. Assuming we had the necessary intelligence, it would take us months to learn the theory that lies behind them. If we made a resolve never to push another button or turn another dial until we really knew what we were doing, we would all be gravely handicapped.

CHEAPER HOMES

The kind of comfortable home which one could secure in 1928 for $7,500 will cost anywhere from $12,000 up in the present day. How can any man paying present rates of income tax, and with a salary of $3,000 per year possibly finance such an undertaking? And the $3,000 class contains a lot of people.

The Financial Post this week points out that "it is the people with incomes of $3,000 who represent the kernel of today's housing crisis. Last year, some 2,365,000 Canadians paid income taxes. Eleven out of every 12 of them earned less than $3,000 annually. Almost half a million earned between $2,000 and $3,000; a million and a quarter from $1,000 to $2,000. These Canadians comprise the Dominion's big need and the big market for housing. They can't afford to pay anything like $10,000 to $12,000 for a home; and if they are forced to do so, they and the whole country are heading for financial trouble later on.

There are veterans in desperate need of roofs for their families, but the present situation seems impossible to meet. The whole housing industry is challenged, workers, management and capital.

FIRST FREEZE

It was bound to happen. For days the thermometer, like a venturesome urchin who yearns to wade in a chill mountain stream but hesitates to dip his toes into the icy water, had been flirting with the 32 degree mark. Suddenly the decision is made, and early morning in the North Temperate Zone sees housetops covered with a substantial veneer of frost.

The air is so still that the smoke of lastly-kindled furnace fires rises plume-like into the sky, reminding one of candles on a white-iced birthday cake. The pools of water left from yesterday's rain are frozen, and youngsters make a bee-line for the catch-all closet to assure themselves that long-unused skates are still there. And adults also will penetrate to attics to dust and polish storm windows, and to cellars to place lawn chairs safely inside, to drain exposed water pipes, and to hang up the coiled garden hose.

The first freeze is winter's warning. The white flag which it displays on roofs, far from being a token of surrender, is an indication that a series of assaults, with snow, sleet, and bitter zero weather, is about to begin. It displays its combat pennons, the red of maple and oak leaves and the gold of elms; and the bugles of the north wind trumpet the charge. Thus, winter gives ample notice of its coming. Heeding the signs, no household-er need be caught napping.

MORE WORK OR MORE LEISURE

(By R. J. DEACHMAN)

Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, Chancellor of the University of Chicago, has been telling us lately that hours of work will soon be sharply reduced, we are drifting into the age of leisure. What will happen then? Rumor based on experience, suggests that Satan finds some mischief still for idle hands to do. So in the day to come we shall sin more and work less, a rather unhappy portent for the future of mankind.

There is no need for alarm. This is not a program for tomorrow or the day after. In the United States the government has called a conference on productivity, it will be needed. Production lags in the land of greatest capacity. In Great Britain a Labor Government asks for more production per man-hour. In Russia they have extended the hours of labor—there will be no shirking there.

The world is desperately poor—even now it may be getting poorer. It is too early to turn from work, to go in search of leisure. The chances are we would be bored stiff if we found what we are seeking. Mankind is not so lazy as some seem to think.

Assume, for a moment, that this almost work-less age arrived to-morrow and that we have a four-hour day—from 8 a.m. to 12 noon with fifteen minutes off at 10.30 for a spot of coffee. How will the editor get his paper out, will it be necessary for him to employ two shifts? Ah, perhaps a machine will write his editorials and bring in the news. Then what of the Minister of the Gospel who delivers two sermons on Sunday and attends to the rest of his ministerial duties during the week? "Elementary, my dear Watson." This will be worked by two shifts—two pay rolls to meet—that will be hard on the congregation—if there is one left by that time.

What about the farmer? He must never be locked out of our planning schemes. Cows must be milked, calves fed, the orchard sprayed, the eggs gathered, the incubator regulated and the children put to bed. There are some things which can't be done on a four hour day on the farm but here perhaps the wife will work—the works now, heaven knows, but the government will pay her then. I knew I could fix the farm problem. Can the farmer pay for two shifts, each working the four hours? Yes—if the payment is made to his wife.

Vision two nations side by side. The conditions in both are the same except that in one they work four hours a day, in the other they work eight hours. What will happen? I am here assuming that all other things will be equal save that in one there is a will to work and in the other a lust for leisure.

In which land will there be the greatest happiness? Is there anything from past history which tells us that greatness grows from leisure? Is there not more joy in work and accomplishment than in endless idleness? The real purport of the message of Dr. Hutchins is that mankind needs a new crusade—some unselfish purpose into which the life of humanity can be poured. When it comes we shall have more work, less leisure, but there will be exultation in the task, life will be more worth living than it has ever been before.

AN EDITOR REGRETS

What did the bride wear? This is a human interest story which no newspaper can neglect, no social column worth its salt. And there has been given pretty good proof of it. The Editor of The Pierce County Tribune Rugby, North Dakota, thought he would do some reforming or space-saving, and decided that the description of bridal apparel, as well as that of the bridesmaids should be omitted in future accounts of nuptial events. Well, he tried it out, just once. And here is the sad denouement:

"Some time ago our society editor talked me into the idea that we should have wedding accounts without all the faddish of who wore what. With some misgivings, I consented. But beginning this week we are again doing them as of old. My sincere apologies to all the gals who got married during the blackout. Clothes are important to women and certainly what they wear on their wedding day is doubly so."

There is a wealth of wisdom in that last sentence. Happy is the bride who can sport some of the lace that grandmother wore when she entered holy matrimony, or other maternal heirlooms.

On January 1st, 1890, Franch Shaw Baker was united in marriage to Mattie, daughter of John W. Lewis. Mr. Baker was a brother of Major Harry F. Baker. The death occurred in Toronto on January 15th, 1900 of Thos. C. Brownjohn, D.L.S., one of Grimsby's cleverest men. On February 2nd, 1890, the new Presbyterian church (now Trinity United) was officially opened, by Principal Cavan of Knox College, Toronto. In 1890 lighting the streets of the village cost $47.87 and considerable discussion took place in council as to whether the lamplighter should get extra pay for lighting extra lamps.

In 1886 the total receipts of the village council were $3,482.95 and expenditures the same; liabilities were debentures $2,554; loans $2,100; interest $120.15. In the assets column land and buildings were valued at $5,500, arrears of taxes only amounted to $203.96 and cash in the bank was $451.06. Times have changed in 56 years.

Grimsby, back in the early days had a real church fight of some kind. It was before my time, but I have often heard tell of it. This fight was between the village council and the Presbyterian Church and Squire William Forbes. Anyway in The Independent of December 27th, 1888, I find the following item. It is being reported by some of the councillors that the village will, under an old township by-law, overthrow all that the church has done and retake the road along with all the money the church has taken from it in this matter. When W. Forbes heard the report he said, "I will sell the present church and site and have the new church built in the wife's name."—The contest thickens. Oh, ye brave who rush to glory or the grave.

June 20th, 1890—We the undersigned merchants of the village of Grimsby do hereby agree to close our respective places of business on each and every Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock during months of July, August and September, commencing on July 10th, and ending September 11th—the stores to remain closed until the following morning:—

Signed—J. W. Urwin, James Althison, G. E. Miller, W. L. Woolverton, A. R. Henry, A. F. Hawke, F. H. Gamble, T. J. Noble, John C. Farrell, S. E. Mabey, J. C. Mariett, Mrs. Dolmage, Phillips Bros., S. Whitaker. Not one of them in business in Grimsby today. All deceased except James Althison and A. F. Hawke.

Births, Deaths and Marriages—Carpenter—At Winona on June 14th, 1901, to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. F. Carpenter, a daughter. Gilmore—At Grimsby on Friday, June 14th, 1901, Sarah, beloved wife of Jas. H. Gilmore, aged 46 years, 2 months, 12 days. Fortman—At Winona on June 12th Mrs. Arthur Fortman, aged 34 years. Milgate—At Toronto Junction, on Monday, June 17, Ethel, daughter of H. G. Milgate, aged 22 years. A former resident of Grimsby.

This is a funny world, as I have often remarked before. As I see strange things happening all round me I often think of a remark that that witty sage of the shoemakers' last, John C. Farrell, once made in my presence, in the Old Back Shop.

"I cannot see any difference in a Zulu punching a hole in his nose and hanging a ring in it, and an up-to-date girl punching holes in her ears and hanging pieces of jewelry in them."

"I cannot see any difference between a Red Indian painting his face in yellow stripes, and our present day girl painting her cheeks in red and brown blotches."

"I cannot see the difference between a Chinese woman deforming her feet in bandages, and our modern young woman squeezing her feet into too small shoes with heels three or four or maybe five inches high, so that she has to wobble along like a sparrow on the tips of her toes."

Maybe there are differences, but I am like John C. I cannot see them.

Think it over.

Smile

Whenever you feel life's unfair,
And you have much worry and care,
Don't feel sad and blue, here's what you should do—
Smile!

I know it is hard to be gay
When things go wrong every day,
But if you want to cry, don't sit round and sigh—
Smile!

For life will always bring luck
To those who have shown their pluck,
So keep up your chin, on your face wear a grin—
Smile!

Off times when I have felt blue
The same as you have been too,
I have found days are bright, everything seems all right when I—Smile!

When a man's own dog won't follow him, beware of that man.

It is a good thing to remember funny stories. When you feel blue, angry or worried, hunt up some round-faced, stout man who enjoys a good laugh, and tell him a funny story; it will cure you to see him laugh.

A man is an animal who likes to buy at ceiling prices and sell what he has at above the ceiling price.

Hint To Hubby

It never may have occurred to you, but when your better half walks in with a swish new chapeau, or something different in her styling, don't just throw up your hands in amazement. At least it reveals that she still has a lively interesting mind. It's when she ceases to bother about the latest creations and let hair hang unkempt that you should start to mean. Then you'll know she is on the downgrade, and is likely to be a less interesting and entertaining companion in the future. Well, anyway, it sounds like a good argument to justify that latest bid. WOMEN—

Built To Measure

Does your kitchen fit your wife? An architect tells me he made a kitchen for his wife, who is exactly five feet in height. He says most kitchens are designed for women who are five feet, eight inches tall. This is because they are designed by men who have their own dimensions in mind. In the average kitchen the petite home manager has to do too much reaching. This tires her and makes her less efficient. Keep that in mind if you have a cute, little mate. Either have the kitchen altered to suit her measurements or give her a step-ladder for a birthday present.

One Year's Hits

All the following songs were introduced and became popular the same year: "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," "Bye Bye Blackbird," "When Day Is Done," "Valencia," "Tonight You Belong to Me," "I Found a Million Dollar Baby in a Five and Ten Cent Store," "In a Little Spanish Town," and "Charmaine." The year was 1936. Imagine that; 20 years ago. Oh, time, why do you march on the way you do? Seems as if it were only the day before yesterday I was hearing those songs for the first time.

Culprits

We've just heard, too, of a gentleman who hasn't spoken to his wife for the past several days, and, for one mad moment at least, seriously considered packing up, bag and baggage, and moving to the Y.

He was looking for his shaving cream the other morning and couldn't find it anywhere. Opening the bathroom door, he neighed his customary: "Who stole my shaving soap?" down the stairway, fully expecting to draw the time-honored: "Just where you left it, dear" in reply.

But his spouse fooled him. "Oh, that stuff," she said rather vaguely, "I just washed your white shirts with it, darling—soap shortage, you know."

Hello, Homemakers! Because vegetables are difficult to store in crowded housing conditions, the best use of perishable vegetables should be considered.

Take cauliflower, for instance; how good it tastes when washed, sectioned and cooked in rapidly boiling salted water until tender, and no longer. Sprinkled with finely grated cheese, chopped parsley or a little paprika, it makes a superb dish. Cauliflower can often be served raw in a salad bowl or instead of pickles on a sandwich plate.

Some people dislike certain vegetables because of their familiarity. Done in the same way with monotonous regularity, is it any wonder they lose their appeal? Yet to get your full quota of good health, vegetables must be included in two meals of each day, for they are second on the list of protective foods.

BALANCED DIET

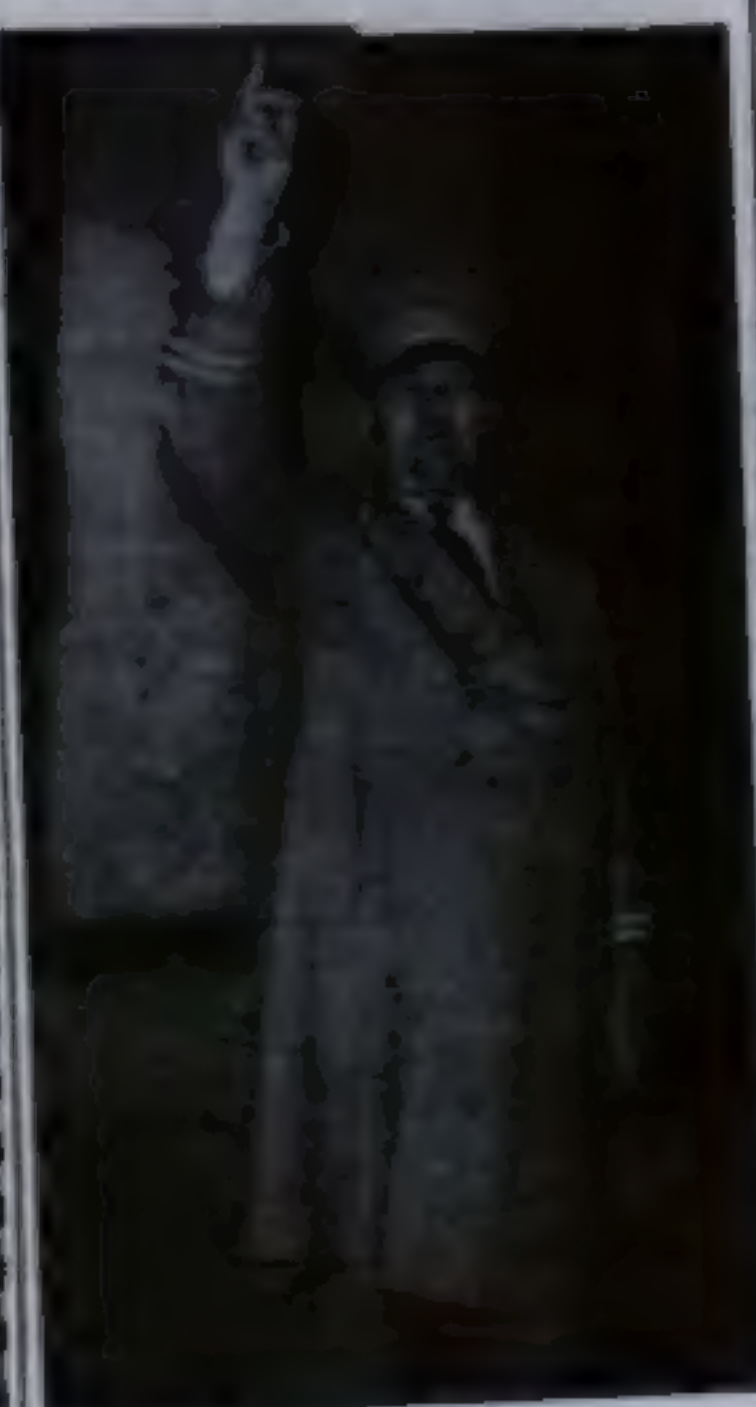

Even in the matter of diet, one can get "too much of a good thing" say nutrition experts of the Department of National Health and Welfare. They point out that, for comfort as well as health, food must be taken in reasonable amounts. This means choosing a balanced diet. It is suggested that such diet will be found in the "Canada's Food Rules" booklet which has been printed for free distribution by the federal and provincial health departments.

Even in a land of milk and honey we bet some men will not gather the honey for fear of being stung.

Duty Well Done

Thirty-one years ago today in the midst of the dignity and charm of Canada's capital city, William A. Holtz, an imposing figure in uniform descended the steps of the Chateau Laurier Hotel to open the door of an approaching hansom cab. He had begun his duties as doorman at that hotel, made famous by the visits of crowned heads and state dignitaries from all over the world. Today, after three decades in the centre of history making events, Mr. Holtz retired on pension as he crossed the threshold of his 66th year and he greeted his

From the steps of the Chateau Laurier, Mr. Holtz, a native of Ottawa, has seen his capital grow and become renowned throughout the world; met the leaders of all walks of life and witnessed the evolution of urban conveyance from the horse drawn carriage to the modern streamlined trolley. He can recall the building of the Union Station across the street; the opening of the Chateau's new 300-room wing in 1931; and the erection of the National War Memorial immediately to the right of the hotel. Ottawa has been a busy place for him. At a moment's notice he has had to direct guests nearest that public building. TELEPHONE SERVICE

This year's outlay of 38 millions is part of our 100 million dollar construction programme planned to the end of next year. Practically every Bell Telephone exchange in Ontario and Quebec will benefit in some important way by the expansion of telephone services between now and 1950.

Local Service

On V-J Day, 92,000 persons were waiting for telephones. New orders were coming in faster than they could be filled. We have connected 140,000 additional telephones since then, yet there are still 75,000 people waiting for service.

Central Exchange Equipment—At present seven out of ten of our telephones are dial. Most of the dollars we are planning to spend on local service will be for dial equipment.

The making of dial equipment, discontinued during the war, started again last year. Enough was built to connect 20,000 additional dial telephones in 1945. That figure will be doubled this year. After that there will be enough to connect 100,000 dial telephones a year.

New central exchange equipment will cost $13,000,000

Local Lines—Cable production will provide two billion feet of wire a year to carry local calls.

New local cables, wires, poles and underground ducts, will cost $22,000,000

Telephones, Inside Wires, Private Switchboards—This year we will receive over 125,000 telephone instruments. The 1947 output will be over 200,000. New telephones, telephone booths, private switchboards and inside wire will cost $28,000,000

Long Distance Service

Out-of-town calls have almost trebled since 1939. We now connect over fifty million Long Distance calls a year.

Long Distance Switchboards—100 Long Distance switchboard "positions" will be built this year. Next year we will install 300 more.

New long distance switchboards will cost $3,000,000

Long Distance Lines—Our underground cable construction will provide stormproof lines all the way from Quebec to Windsor—with similar connections to the United States.

New apparatus to carry twelve telephone conversations at the same time over one pair of wires will be installed between Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and other points. More open wire lines are being erected.

New long distance lines will cost $17,000,000

Land and Buildings

Many of our present buildings will be extended and a number of new buildings erected. New building will cost $11,500,000

Tools and Vehicles

To install this new equipment and look after it we will enlarge our stock of tools, our fleet of motor vehicles and other working equipment.

New tools and vehicles will cost $5,500,000

Total $100,000,000

The overall aim of this $100,000,000 construction programme is to provide the best telephone service at the lowest cost.

business of H. M. Farrell and Sons. He severed this connection in 1934 and organized the Canadian Packaging Sales Ltd., of which he was general manager. This firm handled the purchases of material, collections and sales of several independent basket manufacturing companies.

He was a keen business man of great vision and had unbounded faith in the future of the fruit industry, particularly in the Grimsby Fruit Belt. He was a man of magnetic personality and had a legion of friends throughout the province.

He took an active part in the Grimsby Chamber of Commerce before the war and was a very tower of strength in the Lions Club of which he was a past president.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bea Coulter of Stirling; his mother Mrs. H. H. Farrell; five brothers, William, Roy and Horace of Grimsby; Reginald, of Jordan, and Douglas of Hamilton; four sisters, Mrs. J. B. (Bertha) Marshall of Hamilton, Mrs. A. M. (Letha) Morrow of Windsor, Mrs. Lorne (Doris) Telfer of Montreal, Mrs. W. H. (Greta) Ketterborn of Grimsby.

Funeral services were conducted from his late home on Monday afternoon and despite the inclement weather was very largely attended, the carriage being one of the largest ever seen in Grimsby.

Rev. E. A. Brooks conducted the services at the home and the graveside in Queen's Lawn cemetery.

Casket bearers were: Hugh Campbell, Ralph Boehm, Dr. A. Fleming McIntyre, Harold Woolverton, Douglas Hartnett and James Hogan.

GRIMSBY HONORS

Grimsby, Deputy Reeve John Alton, Township of North Grimsby; Mrs. Ernest Buckenham, I.O.D.E.; Mrs. George Warner, Ladies Auxiliary, Canadian Legion; Mrs. Wm. Layton, Women's Institute; Councilor John Hewitt, Grimsby Lions Club; Vice-President Avery Lipsett, West Lincoln branch, Canadian Legion; Mrs. Toth for Pte. F. Lupoak.

Entering the cemetery proper the Pipers played The Lament. At the Plot of Remembrance, the Union Jack on the pole in the centre of the plot at half-mast, the simple decoration service of the Legion was held. Rev. W. J. Watt said a simple prayer and at the finish pronounced the Benediction. Small crosses were placed upon all graves. Last Post by Sgt. Wally Phillips was sounded, the flag went to the masthead and the parade moved off.

Returning to town the parade broke off and Memorial Services were held in the Roxy Theatre. On the platform with Col. W. W. Johnson, M.C., D.S.O., who acted as chairman, were the members of the Clergy and the officers of the various organizations. The theatre was filled to capacity and it was one of the best services held in years. Rev. George MacLean of Grimsby Baptist church delivered a very timely and interesting address.

The floral decorations upon the stage of the theatre, placed there by the theatre management, were taken after the service to Dr. J. H. MacMillan confined to West Lincoln hospital; Mrs. Douglas Scott confined to her home with illness; Rev. Charles W. Durham of North Grimsby, confined to his home with illness; Don Garham in Hamilton General hospital. The large basket of white mums was taken to Queen's Lawn cemetery and placed upon the grave of late Comrade Benjie K. Moore.

The Comrade President George Marr, after extending a welcome to Col. W. W. Johnson, and thanking the local clergy and others for their co-operation, paid the following tribute to the late Mrs. Benjie K. Moore. "Since our last Memorial Service the Canadian Legion and the whole community have felt the loss of a valued friend, the late Mrs. Benjie K. Moore. It was through the thoughtful generosity of Mrs. Moore that Memorial Services have been held in this theatre. This was only one of the many gracious acts of kindness by which Mrs. Moore will long be remembered. We might well strive to follow her example. Mrs. Moore was never concerned about what the community might do for her but rather what service she could render the community. The West Lincoln Branch of the Canadian Legion was proud to have Mrs. Moore accept an honorary membership. All will cherish her memory."

"We wish to thank Mr. Dymond, our pianist, the Baptist Church for the loan of their piano, J. Orton Livingston and Wilfred M. Lawson of The Grimsby Independent who sponsored the St. Catharines Pipe Band, the High School Cadets and Bugle Band, the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, also the owners and management of Roxy Theatre who not only supplied the use of the theatre but placed beautiful floral tributes on the stage."

Window Pains

A worried father hurried to his teen-age son's hospital bedside. The lad had a broken leg and myriad cuts and bruises. "What happened, son?" asked the father. "Did you have an accident coming home from your girl's house?"

"No," the boy groaned.

"Well, how did it happen?" persisted the father.

"We were jitterbugging," the boy explained, "when her old man came in—he was deaf and couldn't hear the music—he threw me out the window!"

Peach Queens Of Other Years

Aren't they nice? And they were nice. Just as fine as ever lived in any town in the world. Yes, they are all Grimsby girls. Note the high choker collars with the ties, emulating the men, the same as the girls of today, but more dignified. Even one is wearing a "stock". Who are they? They never had any trouble finding good husbands and they all raised beautiful daughters. Some are grandmas and yet this picture is not so terribly old.

Marriages

MERRITT-SMITH
On Saturday, November 8th, in Trinity United Church, which was attractively decorated for the occasion with ferns and white and yellow chrysanthemums, Ellen E. daughter of Mr. Herbert Smith and the late Mrs. Smith, of Winona, was united in marriage to Ivan G. Merritt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Merritt of Grimsby. The bride given in marriage by her father was dressed in a long white sheer dress with full length veil and wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia and Tulleman roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Mary Bain, of Hamilton, was dressed in mauve, triple sheer and carried a bouquet of yellow pinks and chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by his brother, Donald Merritt, while Ralph Smith, brother of the bride and George Miller, brother-in-law of the groom were ushers.

Mr. Clyde Le Mesurier of Rochester, N.Y., played the wedding march, and Mr. Harold Jarvis sang "All Joy Be Thine," and "Because."

The couple left for a motor trip, the bride travelling in lime dress and green coat with brown accessories. They will reside in Grimsby.

FINE PROGRAM FOR BAPTIST CONCERT

Other communities are enjoying the "Hymen sisters" recitals, one of which will be presented at the anniversary concert in the Baptist Church, Tuesday evening, November 19th.

The Bradford Examiner says "Each number was a work of art, showing the versatility of the members of the concert trio. The three sisters play the organ, piano and violin with equal ability and also possess excellent singing voices, which delighted their hearers. Their ability to interchange musical instruments left the audience amazed."

The manner of conducting of the program comes in for special commendation as well as the program itself for the largest St. Andrew's Review says in part the following "The program was carried out unannounced and the very manner in which it was conducted was much appreciated by true music lovers, the beauty and worth of each number on the program being thus left with the hearers without anything to detract from the spirit and enjoyment and necessity of the musical offerings."

"They undoubtedly provide an evening's entertainment of the highest calibre."

The next meeting will be our Christmas meeting and we would urge each member to make a special effort to be present.

Roll call showed too many members absent.

After business was disposed of, Olive Terry reported for the badminton group, which is off to a good start and any member of Trinity Service Club wishing to join this group, may do so by getting in touch with Olive or Sally.

Reports on the newly formed interest groups were given by Grace Atkins, Lorraine Critch and Jean Millyard and these groups promise to become very interesting and instructive.

We listened to a very excellent program contributed by members of our very own members, namely, Mildred Bentley, Ruth Clarke and Jean Millyard. Their addresses and readings were both humorous and educational.

While lunch was being served by hostesses Olive Myer, Hester Harrison, Edith Kunkle and Ruth Clarke, a quiz was conducted by Cora Johnson and Olive Terry sponsored by Phyllis Phelps who also donated the clean and shining prizes.

The next meeting will be our Christmas meeting and we would urge each member to make a special effort to be present.

BABY WEIGHTS

Value of weight measurement as a gauge to physical development is the subject of comment from the Department of National Health and Welfare. The Department favours the system of weighing babies frequently. This it points out, provides valuable record of a baby's gains, and will help the family physician assess and assist the development of the child.

Cummins, of Grimsby, Mrs. G. C. Mackay, of Hamilton, Mrs. Arthur Binkley of Glenwood, Mrs. Alex Campbell, of Campbellville, and Miss Ruby Nicholson, of Dundas.

From Blossom To Fruit

Georgie Palmeter of Kentville, N.S., queen of the 1946 Nova Scotia Apple Blossom Festival, holds a basketful of luscious Nova Scotia apples, now being harvested and packed. The inset shows Miss Palmeter in her robes as queen of the festival during blossom time last spring. Lower picture shows apples passing down assembly line in Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Board's new cold storage warehouse near Kentville, where they are sorted for size and quality and then wrapped and packed in boxes for the domestic market. This is the first year that Annapolis Valley fruit growers have packed their apples in boxes. In former years, the entire crop was packed and shipped in barrels.

Cubbing

Registration cards for this year were given out at last week's meeting of both Packs. Jim Durham completed his 1st Star tests by passing skipping. In the A Pack competition the Tawny Six managed to turn aside last week's champions by a margin of one point.

John Lawson, Bryan Tennant and Ronnie Moore passed their Knots and their uses after being instructed by Sinker David Alton. A game of Hoop Ball was greatly enjoyed by both Packs.

Bagheera was present to help with the star tests and passed Walter Lessey in his knowledge of Health.

B Pack learned a couple of relay races, being led by Mowgli and Bagheera. The Red Flower was not used as Mowgli had some trouble in arranging the wood so it would burn.

WORK AND LIGHT

Importance of adequate light for eye-health has long been acknowledged. Now, the Department of National Health and Welfare has issued advice to employers and employees of factories that proper lighting has an appreciable bearing on general health as well as industrial output. Not only will good lighting make work conditions more pleasant, but will help to decrease industrial accidents. It is pointed out.

Boy Scouts

A successful hike was held by some members of the 1st Grimsby Troop on Monday, November 11th. The party moved off at 9.30 a.m. carrying haversack rations with a rendezvous on the mountain. On arrival the scouts erected shelter and lit fires and in all cases cooked a meal. Second Peter Phelps, Beaver Patrol, passed the special fire lighting and cooking test, a part of the requirements for First Class Scout. Owing to rain the party returned about 2 p.m. instead of 4 o'clock as originally intended.

The Boy Scout Organisation started in England in 1907 and came to Canada the same year. In 32 years it spread to 99 countries including parts of the British Empire. In 1942 there were 2,555,000 Scouts in the world. Some 10,000,000 boys have benefited since the movement began. At the end of 1941 there were 91,334 Scouts in Canada and 1,080,352 in the British Empire. A census was taken last month.

SPORTOLOGY

(By Bones Livingston, Sportologist)

A FINE SPORTSMAN PASSES—The last goal has been scored; the last whistle blown; the tumult and the cheering has died down for the last time. "Dad" Farrell, one of the best hockey players and finest all-around sportsmen that The Fruit Belt ever produced, "Dad" was a great lover of all types of clean, hard battling athletics.

but hockey was his game and his first love. He learned the first rudiments of the game on the Old Forty and on a little rink that was built by the kids of the town far several winters in the Livingston driveway, between the now Bell Telephone office and the Dr. McIntyre residence. From the very beginning, as a kid, he stood out head and shoulders over all the other kids as a puck juggler. When still in his very early teens he became a member of the Peach Kings Intermediate team. That was before the first war and seven-man, thirty minute hockey was the rule.

During his service in the bank in Toronto he was an outstanding player on the Union Bank team in the Bankers' League. While manager of the Bank of Dundalk, he was playing captain of the merged Dundalk-Maridale team that went through to the O.H.A. finals in 1923-24. A member of that team was Nick Burnside, who later was a member of the championship Peach Kings.

After returning to Grimsby to live he played and coached the Jordan Intermediates who twice went through to the finals for the Intermediate O.H.A. championship. He was ably assisted on this team by his three brothers, Roy, "Bo" and Horace.

After hanging up his tack for good and all he joined the staff of O.H.A. referees and for several seasons his services were very much in demand. He knew the game from A to Z, was always on top of the play, had strict command and was absolutely impartial. For some years he and Johnny Mitchell were known as "Bill" Hewitt's midge officials.

Sportsmen generally throughout the Fruit Belt deeply regret the passing of this young man and his loss will be felt in all lines of sporting endeavour for a long time to come.

OUR ELITE SAYS OLD TOM—"Let love a dick. I never think the boy would ever come to wearin' a woman's dress." THOMASINE is broken hearted over this picture of HOWIE DUFFIELD all decked out in Scotch regalia. Says the OLD CLOTHES MAN "if this is what's goin' to 'appen to our boys when they goes over to that oatmeal porridge country then we better keep them at 'ome. I never thinks when I see training this lad that he would ever become a daisy. Why 'e's even got cats tails hanging down de front of 'im. Too bad, says I." DUFFY is now playing left defence for the Five Flyers of Kincaily. Just why the coach of this team has ever taken this lad out of his natural position at centre ice and made a defence bloke out of him has OLD POP McVICAR going around in circles. As a result the boy is not playing the game he is capable of, according to the records. According to POP this lad was destined for the big time if he had been brought along the proper way. He claims that DUFFY is the most natural centre ice man that he has seen in a flock of years and he is much disturbed over the fact that the kid is being spoiled by the fatheads across the pond trying to make a defenceman out of him. Also "a loidy" says OLD TOM. Quit worryin', boys, it will all come out in the wash.

OLD POP IS WALKING ON AIR—When I first met POP McVICAR the long string bean was a very quiet, reticent boy. But several years of contact with this writer and he has become one of the most effervescent sangers of the English language that the FRUIT BELT as ever produced. Right now POP is throwing words in all directions regarding the forthcoming crop of PEACH KINGS. He will not predict that he is going to win a championship, but he does claim that when the ARENA opens its doors 10 days hence he will throw a whole battalion of potential hockey material onto the ice and with his co-partner in the coaching game, FATHER B. A. O'DONNELL, expects to develop a team that is going to take a lot of beating no matter where the opposition comes from.

One high spot in POP's life right now is the fact that the one time PEACH KING star goalie BOBBY ROBERTSON will at least turn out for practice with the team. It has come to light that during his service overseas BOBBY was considered second best goaltender to TURK BRODA in the Canadian Army list of teams. POP also has a young lad the name of HARVEY and another one the name of FEGG trying out for the goal positions.

Of last year's outfit he will have Reid, Warner, Tallman, Miller, Blanchard, Whitfield, Hearn and Craig if the O.H.A. will let HANDBOMKE play here.

New men that he has in tow are McMunn and Hutchinson who played last winter for Milton and are now residing on Van Wagners Beach; also Oakes, VanNickle and Edmunds of Lynden, the latter playing last season with a Halifax Navy League team. He also thinks that he has a real, smart puck dangle in Darte, an employee of the Todd factory. This boy played last winter in the Quebec Senior League.

Several other players of the proper calibre are also on his string but he refuses to divulge who or what they are.

O.K., POPPY, but don't get too far up the air. Ballrooms do explode.

THEY'RE PLAYING IT STRAIGHT NOW—Walkerton's hockey management has come right out in the open and advertised for players just as other employers advertise for hired help. It has offered good jobs to all who will play for that town.

The Owen Sound Sun-Times commends the Walkerton people for their frankness. Once upon a time hockey players actually did perform for the love of the game, and were rewarded by a banquet, a suitcase, or a gold watch at the end of the season.

Then came the money era in which money was slipped to them while the Ontario Hockey association shut its eyes and called them amateurs. Finally came the decision to revise the definition of amateur, and now anybody who can distinguish the difference between an amateur and a professional would make a good supreme court lawyer.

GRIMSBY PUNTERS PAY ATTENTION—An English "bookie" writes to his father in Toronto as follows:

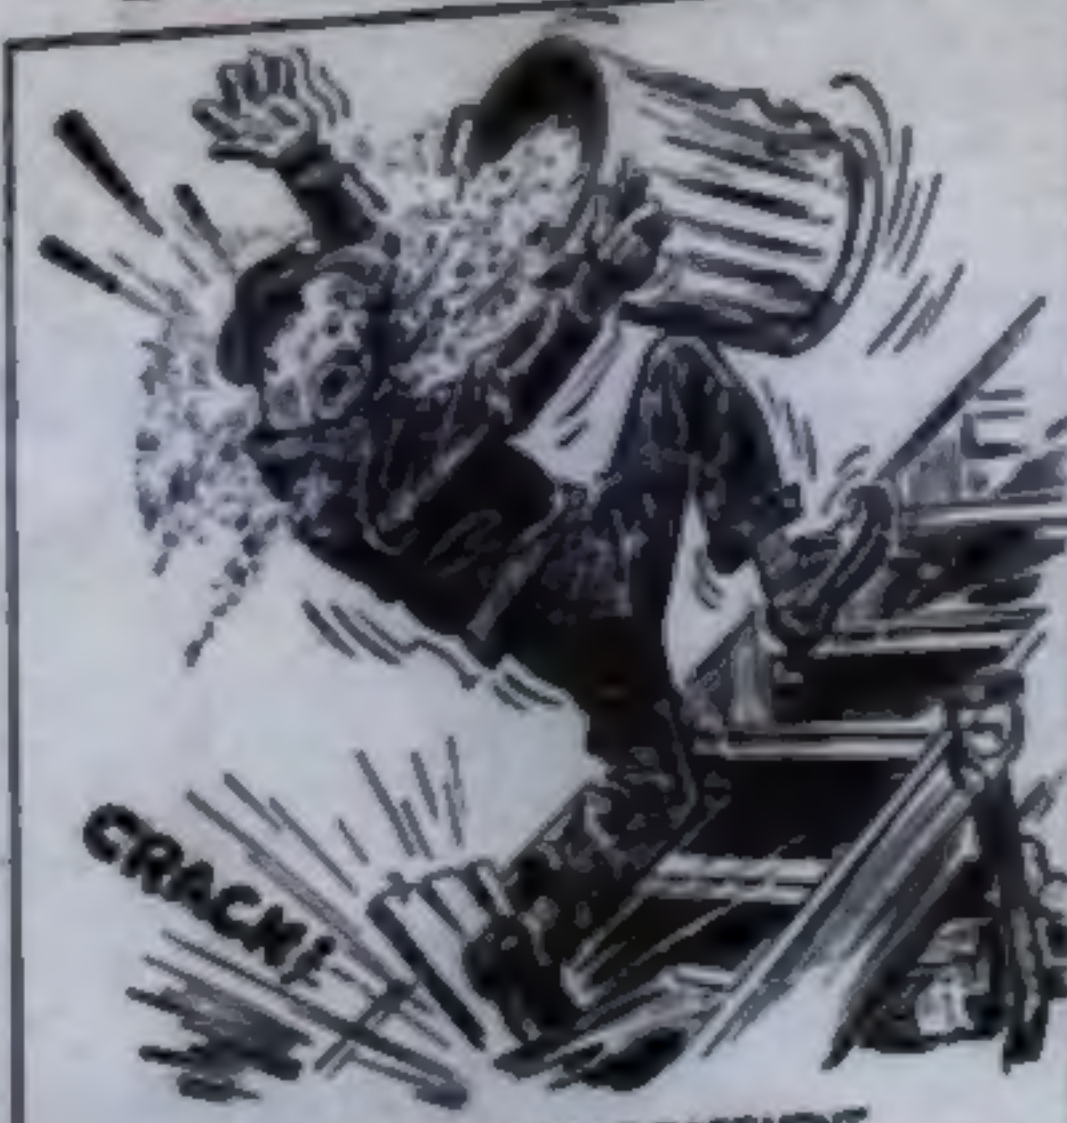

"The Caesarwitch was run today, a very bad race indeed for me, in spite of the winner being returned at 33-1, and I had no idea such a price was obtainable. It was a day of bad results, but such is the game, and however disturbing they may be, have to be taken as a matter of course."

"I had two of the French owners betting with me. One, a Baron, the owner 'Foxhall', the other a Viscount, the owner of Minerva. The betting is very heavy in parts these days, and it's difficult to curb the punting activities, one finds oneself laying bets such as 9,500 lbs. to 4,000 lbs., 1,000 lbs. each way, 10,000 lbs. to 200 lbs. (5-1) 6,500 lbs. to 4,000 lbs. and 2,000 lbs. to 4,500 lbs. the latter being odds on. This was 2 days, then on to York 2 days, and then to Manchester on Nov. 2 days, and that meant a long spell at the wheel driving for me, to Newmarket."

The father says all the English betting is untaxed and the

The Taking Into Partnership in MID-TOWN MOTORS of Mr. Dalton Fretz

N. N. Budner

FRAZER

VEGETABLE THINNERS

These machines bring the same manpower, time and money savings to sugar beet and vegetable growers that Frazer cotton choppers bring to cotton planters. They bring mechanical precision and increased accuracy to chopping and thinning, a vital step that eliminates the waste, delay and carelessness of hand hoe operations. Mechanically thinned rows yield more.

The sugar beet thinner is similar to the Frazer cotton chopper in design and operation. It is a two-row machine, adjustable for 14 to 20-inch rows with 14-inch knives and 20 to 24-inch rows with 19-inch knives. Horse or tractor hitch.

The vegetable thinner operates in lettuce, radishes, carrots, broccoli, spinach, onions and practically all vegetables. It can be adjusted for 20 to 28-inch rows and is available in either horse or tractor hitch.

Chancellor of the Eschequer must be missing millions. He comments: "There is one thing to be said about actual bookmakers, they do not trade at the profits the mutuels do in Ontario, viz. 22% deduction, but many S.P. returns of British racing does not show a 10% profit on an all-round book, and often as low as 5% and a bookmaker can lose, while the mutuels cannot, so it looks as if the Canadian racing enthusiast should have his brains read."

IT'S ALL RIGHT BY ME—That RED NORTON BAINLEY has certainly pulled the SOUTH HAVENS out of the doldrums. Last week they took RED SMOKE NORTON McBRIDE and the famous VEDETTE team into camp in sweet style. All three games. Now you have busted the jim ARNETTE, let's go to town. . . . President KAY PYNDYK is starting to come to form, she had a 633 triple. . . . FOUNDRY and WONDERS split four points and there were only nine points between them on the total score. . . . Fire bees were ringing long and loud on Monday night when the GAS HOUSE tripped over their stillson wrench in the form of the FIREMEN. ARMANDA COMMANDO HUMMELL and his smoke eaters grabbed three points from the GAS-SEERS and made them like it. . . . No wonder the country is going haywire. BLACK CATS licked the GENERALS 4-0, mainly due to the 740 triple of BARNEY JOHNSON. . . . Those LUMBER KINGS are certainly going to town. Took three points from the FARMERS. . . . WHEELER'S got a grouch on. Know why? PIRATES are not pirating too hot. . . . PONY EXPRESS and ST. ANDREWS got themselves all snarled up this week when they rolled a tie game of 1000 points each.

In the playoff frame the SAINTS took the game 15-8. That didn't suit BILL HAND any too well either. LLOYD THEAL was tops with 721. . . . ROY PIETT dragged the SHEET METAL team to a 2-1 victory over the FARMERS when he rolled 259-362-244 for a 805 triple. . . . And the LUMBER KINGS lapped the PEACH KINGS. This bunch from the wrong side of the tracks are shaping up like a formidable outfit. . . . And the VILLAGE BUNKER was high man with 601 when the BOULEVARD trimmed WEST END 3-1. . . . LITTLE WHEELER is laying in his Christmas supply.

May Be A Fool But A Gentleman

Olivia de Havilland was in the dark — and in a Tunnel of Love, to boot — when the lights went out.

It happened on the set during the filming of Warner's new screen drama, "Devotion", showing at the RKO tonight and Friday night, when a fuse blew and Olivia, along with Victor Francen, was trapped in a gondola surrounded by three feet of water.

Since the pair were playing a romantic scene, there was considerable speculation about what went on in the Tunnel of Love.

Said Mr. Francen: "I suppose thousands of young men would give their eye teeth to ride through that tunnel with Olivia."

"If I say that nothing happened — I make a fool of myself. If I say that anything happened, I am not a gentleman."

"Gentlemen—nothing happened." Francen plays an important featured role in the picture which, besides Olivia de Havilland, also stars Ida Lupino, Paul Henreid and Sydney Greenstreet.

Indestructible Man

TOUGHEST THING ON EARTH TO KILL IF HE HAS WILL TO

(Condensed from The Baltimore Sunday Sun)

"A man," said Vic Ingraham, "is the toughest thing on earth to kill. If he's got the will to survive, about the only way he can be stopped is by something as final as a bullet through the heart."

Vic Ingraham speaks with authority. He earned that right by an almost incredible feat of survival in the Arctic wilderness. In 1922 Vic Ingraham went north from Minneapolis, a barrel-chested, rollicking youngster, whose imagination had been kindled by stories of newly found gold in the Northwest Territories. In those days an ambitious prospector couldn't charter a plane and drop down conveniently on one of the lakes bordering the vast, ore-bearing plateau. Besides, Vic didn't have money to spare. So he mushed behind a dog team through uncharted wilderness to Great Bear Lake, acquired a small boat, and started hauling freight.

In the next ten years he had built up a tidy business, and had taken Stewart Curry into partnership. In 1933 he and Curry were on their tug on Great Bear Lake. Behind them trailed a barge loaded with supplies and 11 men bound for Port Radium. Only a man as tough as Vic Ingraham would have tried to make that trip. It was October 26, early winter on the Arctic Circle, with the temperature below zero and steadily sinking.

Great Bear Lake is larger than some of the Great Lakes and a screaming gale was piling up heavy seas, keeping the lake open. Ingraham was gambling on making that last trip with badly needed supplies before the final freeze-up.

Every time they refilled the fuel tanks from the drums of gasoline, gas slopped over the deck as the tug rolled and ducked in the waves. On one sudden lurch some of the gasoline sloshed against the red-hot exhaust pipe. In a matter of seconds the tug was ablaze from bow to stern.

Curry seized an axe and cut the cable to set the barge free. The wind would carry it ashore and the men aboard would have at least a fighting chance for their lives. Ingraham plunged down into the engine room of the tug to rescue the two men below. A blazing bell drove him back to deck, but not before his hands and feet were badly burned.

A few minutes before the tug blew up and sank, Ingraham and Curry went over the side in a rubber life raft built for one. For two days and a night they drifted in the ice-edged gale, before their frail craft reached shore. From the water's edge the beach slanted upward, sheathed for several hundred yards in glare-ice where the spray had frozen. For hours they inched their way up the steep incline, slipping back time after time when they had almost reached safety. Finally, drenched to the skin and utterly exhausted, they pulled themselves over the top.

By this time the temperature had dropped to 30 degrees below. If they were to live they had to have fire. Snow was falling, covering the sodden jack pine and spruce, but Ingraham had in his pocket the stub of a candle, a pencil and a tin box of matches. With infinite care they whittled the pencil to shavings. Then they lit the candle and with it lit the shavings. Gathering the driest bits of wood, they nursed the tiny fire into a full blaze. For three foodless days they huddled beside the fire taking turns sleeping. They knew that if they both slept the fire would go out and neither of them would awake again.

At the end of those three days the men knew that their only chance lay in finding the barge, which had had food aboard. Reluctantly they left their lifesaving fire and started along the shore on an incredible hike. They were in an area as devoid of life as the surface of a dead planet. Fifty miles ahead a point of land jutted into the lake. If the drifting barge had missed that it would drift hundreds of hopeless miles beyond. They could only struggle toward the point with the faint hope that the barge would be there.

On the first day of that hike both of Ingraham's burned feet froze solid. Yet he kept chumping along on feet that had literally turned to blocks of ice. He struggled on through the long black Arctic nights and the short gray days like an automaton. To have stopped would have meant giving way to sleep a sleep from which there would be no awakening. At times it was an almost overwhelming temptation. But the blind will to survive was stronger than the appalling cold and hunger.

Then Curry went temporarily blind and Ingraham had to lead him as they struggled on. Their hunger became a gnawing torture. They were dragged with fatigue. But there was no food, and rest was denied them. Then for the first time Providence seemed to intercede. On the shore just short of the point they found the barge, its 11 survivors huddled around a fire behind a tarpaulin shelter. All the food, however, had been lost when the barge crashed ashore. One of the men had managed to save his rifle, but even that offered little hope. The caribou had long since gone south, and no other game existed in that desolate country.

Again Providence interceded. There in the wilderness where no caribou should have been, a lone straggler from the migration showed up. They promptly shot it and ate its boiled flesh. To this day Ingraham maintains that nothing less than the hand of God guided that caribou.

The men rolled Vic in blankets, more dead than alive. Yet even the narcotic of oblivion was denied him. Except for brief moments of fitful sleep, he never lost consciousness.

The tug had blown up on October 26. Eighteen days later, on November 13, a search plane found them and landed on the lake. They flew Vic to the hospital at Akavik, at the mouth of the Mackenzie River. There he hovered between life and death, receiving blood transfusions and, later undergoing a long series of operations. In the spring he was flown to Minneapolis for even more surgery.

At the end of a year and a half, Vic had lost both legs below the knees and the first point of three fingers on each hand. And of course he was broke. No one could have blamed him if he had started selling pencils on a street corner.

But Ingraham's spirit was made of tougher stuff. On crutches, without even waiting to learn the use of his new artificial feet, he turned his face again toward the North. His ambition was unshaken, and a fierce pride was involved. He had to go back to prove that the demons of frost and cold had not licked him. He took a job as the agent for a transportation company at Great Bear Lake.

In 1937 there was a gold strike at Yellowknife. The news spread, and the rush was on. In the midst of it hobbled Vic, turning his back on a secure job to make another start as a free agent.

He set up as a trader, and prospered. He built the first little hotel at Yellowknife. As the camp grew he built a large one. He is now building his third, a modern hotel on the newly planned townsite. In less than ten years Ingraham has built up a substantial fortune. He owns his own transportation company, operating a fleet of trucks and tractor trains. With his brother, he operates Yellowknife's power system. They are in gold mining and the lumber business.

Some time during that period Vic threw away his crutches. One day with the temperature around 40 below zero, his brother overtook him driving a heavy truck the 200 miles across the ice of Great Slave Lake, and vigorously remonstrated. Vic snorted, "Hell, I'm better off than you are — my feet can't freeze."

As to his hands, he says, "Long fingers are not much good for anything but maybe typewriting. Otherwise they only get in your way."

Last summer a neighbor passing Vic's home stopped to stare at him. Vic was sitting on his front steps, looking down at his feet and rocking with laughter. "Look at those dang mosquitoes," he chuckled. "They're trying to bite my artificial legs. At last I've put one over on those little so-and-so's."

When anyone talks of the frailty of man I think of Vic Ingraham. By every rule of the book he should, if he survived at all, be a more broken husk of a man. But the rule he lived by was not in any ordinary book. It is the rule governed by that unconquerable spirit of man, which makes the frail human being just about indestructible.

A friend of Vic's, while in Toronto, remarked, "I'd like to take a whole shipload of disabled war veterans down north to Yellowknife, tell them the story of Vic and then let the boys see that tough old character in action. I think it would do more for them than all the sermons, treatments and advice anyone could prescribe."

The majority isn't always in the right. Many select that side just because they want to be on the winning side.

A psychiatrist suggests the reciting of a poem as a method of curing the blues. But not some of this free verse kind.

THIS TOWN GETS AROUND

This portable logging camp is now located north of Forestville, not far from Tadoussac on Quebec's north shore. But soon it will be moved to another spot in the heart of the vast Canadian timber land. A self contained community equipped with electric light, wash rooms and other comforts, this camp will house men harvesting the winter's crop of pulpwood for Canada's biggest industry, pulp and paper.

Around The GRIMSBY High School

By RICHES AND BRYDON

Social Department—

At long last after a week of some very humorous publicity, came Sadie Hawkins' Day.

Starting last week at assembly and continuing through the week the Student Executive and the Teen Club presented a series of announcements to familiarize the students with Sadie Hawkins' Day and the Dance which was to be held on Friday evening. These announcements took the form of skits, radio broadcasts, etc., and were very ably handled by Art Brydon and Havelock Jewson.

Great preparations were made for Friday when everyone had to wear odd socks, sweaters, and the girls were not allowed to wear fingernail polish or any form of adornment in their hair.

On Friday evening the long-awaited dance was held. All students came dressed as country licks and as was expected there was a predominance of plaid shirts. There were exceptions, however, and worthy of mention, in our estimation, were Doug "Lil Abner" Cole, who wore his father's best overalls; and the red-headed third former who made us feel like joining the pack.

On the whole, Sadie Hawkins' Day was a huge success. It was the girl's show, as they had to ask the boys to go with them to the dance; ask the boys to dance; extend to the boys all the courtesies which they themselves have been used to receiving; and in short to change places with the boys. The results were astounding. Girls were seen staggering through the halls carrying huge piles of books and following the empty-armed proud-looking male student into classrooms.

The girls took the boys to the dance and naturally paid the price of admission and refreshments. Some ambitious females even gave their boy-friends corsages, and what corsages. One, in particular, which we noticed was made out of carrots, radishes, potatoes, etc., and hung around his neck. The poor fellow looked like a walking victory garden.

We think that everyone really enjoyed themselves on Sadie Hawkins' Day and the general feeling about the school with regard to the event was summed up by a fifth form "eager beaver" who remarked—"Why don't we do this more often."

Special Note—

Don Mogg gets his name in the paper. After reading our special feature department last week the Rt. Hon. Donald Mogg threatened to quit his paper route.

Stick to it, old boy, the male must get through.

Special Feature Department—

Student of the Week—
This week's Student of the Week is third form's (the teachers call him Angus) Gus MacMillan, who earns recognition for, among other things, his hard fighting play and spirit with the Senior Rugby team.

Last Thursday Gus, who played on the team, won the game of the year against Beamsville H.S. for the High School football squad.

The score at the end of the first half of the game was 5-0 for Beamsville. Then our boy "Gus" pounced on the ball on the enemy one yard line after Beamsville had fumbled. This set up the touchdown which tied the game, and who do you think scored that much needed touchdown—That's right, "Gus" MacMillan.

We think that Angus is the reason why G.H.S. beat their rivals from Beamsville by a score of 7-6 and therefore name him Student of the Week.

Note—
This constitutes also a fairly accurate report of the high spots in the Beamsville - Grimsby Rugby game on Thursday afternoon. Ed. Joke of the Week:

G. H. S. students complain that Kidd Ave. is in need of repair. Some people say that although parts of the street are in poor shape, as a whole, it is all right. Students reply that they do not wish to use the Ave. as a "hole," but as a road.

Lions Club meets next Tuesday night.

C. S. Boyd is constructing a new prefabricated house on No. 5 Highway, south side, just east of the town limits.

St. Andrew's W.A. will not meet this week, owing to preparations being made for the Rummage Sale on Saturday, the 16th, in Masonic Hall. Their next meeting will be on Friday, the 22nd.

A short circuit in an electric refrigerator started a blaze in the home of Ralph Boehm, Livingston Avenue at four o'clock on Wednesday morning. Firemen under Asst.
Chief "Dyke" Lawson soon had the fire under control. Damage will be about $1,000, mostly from water.

Gray or black squirrels may be hunted in any part of Ontario on the 15th and 16th days of November, 1946, upon the condition that no person hunt, take or kill in any one day an aggregate number of squirrels in excess of five, under the necessary license to take such.

Property transfers in St. Catharines are holding their own according to Assessment Commissioner Martin H. Laird. During the month of October there were 143 transfers of which 115 were for a consideration of $400,000. The remaining 28 were family transactions at $1 each.

Michael Sweet, a town employee, while working with Supt. J. M.
Lawrie on the Livingston Avenue road widening job had the misfortune to receive chest injuries and broken ribs when a crowbar that he was using to remove cement curbing slipped and struck him on the chest. He was confined to West Lincoln hospital for some days but is now recuperating at his home on Fairview avenue.

SKIN DISORDERS

Need for early reporting of skin disorders which may occur among workers in industry is discussed in a bulletin from the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa. Such rashes may be directly related to the type of materials which workmen are using, the health authorities say, and should have prompt attention, both for speedy treatment and in order that steps may be taken to remove the source of such infection.

Job had patience but we bet he never had a person with the suffles to sneeze in his face.

erecting behind the Star Cleaners store on Main west. This building will be two storeys high with basement, built of cement blocks, and will house his dry cleaning plant also a laundry and steam baths if licences for same are granted by the health authorities. He estimates that the building will cost in neighborhood of $15,000 and the machinery and equipment another $10,000. He was granted a permit for the building.

Peter Karo applied for a building permit for a structure 30x50, cement blocks, that he contemplated erecting on the Dr. A. F. McIntyre building lot on the north side of Main east next the Grimsby garage, said building to sit back about 40 feet from the street line.
The building would be used as a blacksmith shop, repair shop for farm implements and for a welding business. Owing to the close proximity of this building to the high class residential section council could not see their way clear to grant the permit.

Mayor Bull in addressing council spoke feelingly of the passing of Charles A. (Dad) Farrell and the great loss that the business, social and sporting life of the community had suffered.

There are several rifle-toting, shot-gun shooting men and boys in town who are going to find themselves before a court of law charged with shooting off firearms within the municipality contrary to law. Several narrow escapes have been reported from the north end of the town, particularly in the neighborhood of the town dump, where the Nimrods go to shoot dump rats. The dump, while fenced and gates locked, will also be posted with "no trespassing" and "no shooting" signs. Police will be instructed to prosecute all offenders.

Bell Telephone Co. submitted plans and cost of operation of a police telephone and red flasher light signal system to be installed on poles on Main street and Depot street in order to increase the efficiency of the force. The capital outlay to the town will be in the neighborhood of $50 to $75. Cost of operation will be $12 a month. Police committee will have the system installed as soon as possible.

Officials of the White Aircraft Co. notified council that it was their intention to rebuild their factory just as soon as it is possible for them to do so. The new plant will be erected for the employment of an estimated 75 men.

The Board of Management of Trinity United church are not at all satisfied with conditions on Main street, particularly on Saturday night. In a letter addressed to Clark Bourne they complained of the "drunks, rowdiness and obscene language" and asked that steps be taken to remedy the condition. The matter was left with the police committee.

Chairman of Board of Works Ingelhart reported that the cement curbing on the northern edge of the tarvia road on Livingston Avenue had been removed and that a coating of stone would be put on the earth portion of the road between the tarvia and the steel fence paralleling the road, a top dressing will be applied in the spring. This will widen Livingston by 10 to 12 feet.

Dr. Berry of the Ontario Department of Health notified council that he had carefully perused the engineer's report upon the rebuilding of the sewage disposal plant and that the Department would be willing to have the construction work done in sections and outlined the portions of the plant that should be completed first.

Council, under a priority issued by the Department of Reconstruction, are able to secure sewer pipe and water pipe for the new housing project under construction on the Aitchison survey.

A building permit was granted to Ken Griffith for a temporary residence on the rear of the George Doust property on Robinson St.
E.

Chief of Police W. W. Turner reported that in October 10 motorists paid 2 fines under the Traffic

Owes Success To Ice Cream Soda

Had she not dropped into a Hollywood drug store and dawdled long enough over an ice-cream soda for a friend of Director Mervyn LeRoy to have seen her, Lana Turner wouldn't now be playing opposite John Garfield in the film-ization of "The Postman Always Rings Twice," showing at the Romy
the first three days of next week.

That appraising friend of LeRoy arranged an appointment for Lana with the director and the outcome was a part in a picture called "They Won't Forget." A sixteen-year-old novice who had never before been within a motion picture studio, she won the role from twenty-five actresses who had been tested for the part. Making good from the start, Lana Turner has since established herself as one of the screen's outstanding performers.

Lana was born in the mining town of Wallace, Idaho, on February 8th. The child was given plenty of name—Judith Jean Mildred Frances Turner. She herself chose the name Lana when she went into pictures. She was ten when her father died. Lana's mother, lacking health but not courage, became a beautician, conducting her own establishment. That arrangement continued until Lana was fifteen when she and her mother went to Holly-

DROPLET INFECTION

Spread of such ailments as the common cold, coughs, influenza, and some of the fevers, through "droplet infection" is subject of a bulletin issued by the Department of National Health and Welfare.

Trouble can be carried in the minute particles coughed or sneezed into the air. It is, therefore, not merely a matter of common decen-handkerchiefs at all times to prevent spread of germs when sneez-
